Women Coders are committed to enriching the lives, careers, and communities of women and underprivileged minorities by encouraging them to learn how to code, engaging them in innovative projects, and empowering them to seek opportunities in the tech industry. We believe that other companies share this same desire to see more female programmers, and the program outlined below is an opportunity for all of us to come together to help accelerate the growth for confident, ambitious, and collaborative women coders in technological field.

The Women Coders Scholarship Program will:

1. Encourage women to think big and to set goals for their careers

2. Support ten (10) approved participants each quarter to participate in bootcamps and coding classes that will help further their career as a developer

3. Require scholarship recipients to report on their educational and professional progress to the company sponsors—as well as work on hands-on projects to supplement their portfolio and prepare them for occupation in the tech industry
